

Colonel Charles Burton "Buck" Saunders was born in 1867 and spent his formative years in Berryville. Even as a boy he developed a reputation for his marksmanship. When he grew older, he went out west to seek his fortune. His resources allowed him the luxury of indulging in his love of travel and collecting unique artifacts, especially firearms. Upon his death, he left this collection to the City so that future generations could enjoy it as well.

Ask about

Group discounts - the museum has parking for buses behind the building. The Saunders Museum is handicap accessible with dedicated parking right in front of the front door.

Months of Operation

April 15th - Nov 7th

Hours of Operation

Mon - Sat - 10:30am - 5pm

Sun - Closed

Admission:

Adults - $5
 Students - $2.50
 Under 13 - $2.50
 Under 6 - Free

SAUNDERS
 MUSEUM
 BERRYVILLE, AR

SAUNDERS

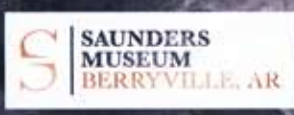

Anyone interested in the history of firearms will have an unforgettable visit at the Saunders Museum, but even those with little interest in guns will find something fascinating to look upon there. With a variety of items from the frontier period, and an incredible collection of arrowheads, the museum has something for everyone. You can enjoy this remarkable collection for a very modest admission price.

Location:

115 E. Madison Ave,
 Berryville, AR 72616

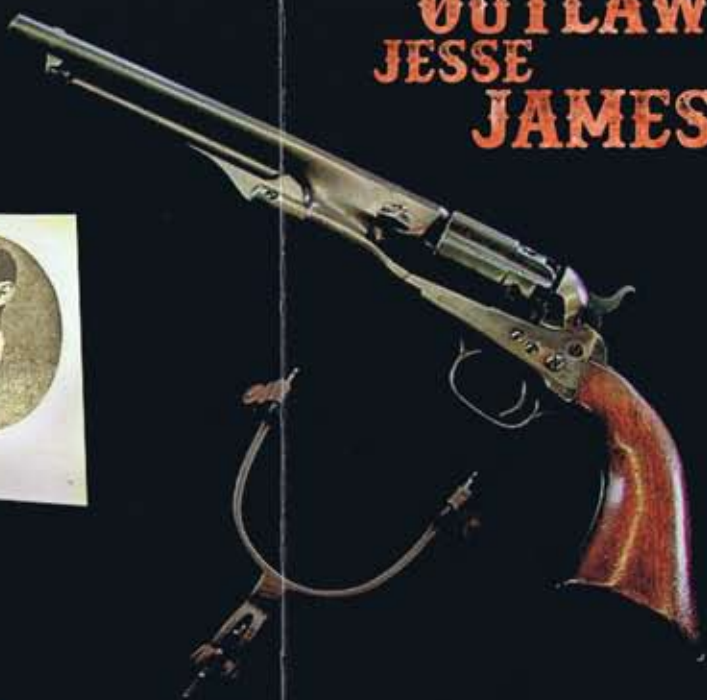

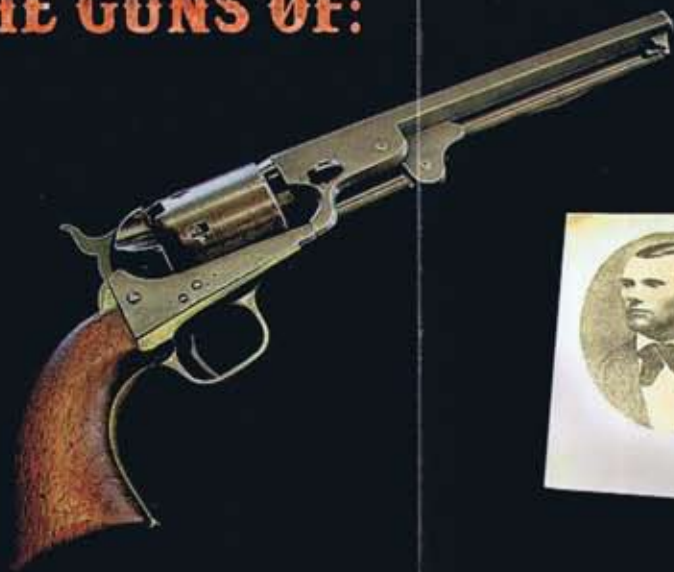

Phone:

1.870.423.2563

THE GUNS OF:

"THE OUTLAW" JESSE JAMES

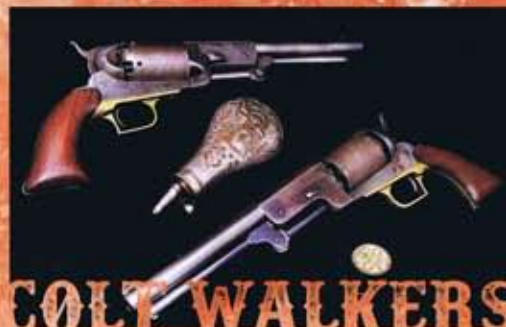

JUST A SNEAK PEEK...

What you'll see inside:

Sitting Bull's war bonnet, an Arab Sheik's tent, Persian rugs and teakwood furniture.

A GIANT collection of arrowheads, Guns used by the famous and infamous... like Jesse and Frank James, Belle Starr, Cole Younger, Cherokee Bill and Billy the Kid, Wild Bill Hickok and Buffalo Bill Cody. It's fun for the whole family...

COLT WALKERS